One of the organizations created in Germany to hifing about a Russian trade revival is the German trust for the exploitation of Bussia, headed by K. Muller, which is understood to be seeking American support. This trust is underacted to be opposed in British or French particlipation, but is analous to creats a German-American fund for the reconstruction of Russian tailways, through the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. It is understood that the trust is negotiating with Chiherin and Krassin for concessions.

Seek Control of Ports.

The German-Russian Navigation company has been created in Berlin by the soviet delegation with the Hamburg-America line to control the Baltic ports. The Hamburg-America interests, the Stinnes group, and the British firm of Armstrong have formed a syndicate for the exploitation of Petrograd port, a concession for which has been promised by the soviet government. It is proposed to transform Petrograd into a free port.

"The great middle class which formerly occupied the main floor of the theater either has to stay at home now or sit in the gallery."

Anspacher said. "A great many people who never had money before and who formerly sat in the gallery now have the means to sit on the main floor si the high prices which are charged to cover the enormous overhand."

main floor at the high prices which are charged to cover the enormous overhead of present-day production, and consequently the dramatic productions of the day are based on the likes of the former gallery fans.

"Naturally, then we have shows which are based on the box office demands instead of the true principles of dramatic art, And box office standards today are not very high."

Harold F. McCormick likewise maintained allence in regard to reports that he would wed Madame Ganna Valska, Polish opera singer, when she obtains a divorce from Alexander Smith Cochran. 'He refused to amplify a previous statement that he "was not interested in Madame Walska's divorce." Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old daughter of the household, sent word that she would see no more reporters who sought to question her regarding reports of an estrangement with her middle-aged subjects. With the descent of the "gallery god" to the orchestra circle has come a consequent lowering of dramatic standards and a decline in the theater's repute.

county judge to serve out the unexpired term of Judge H. L. Standeven.
Judge Williams was elected to the county bench in the fall of 1918 and re-elected in 1929. He was appointed district judge in May, 1921, when he recovered he returned to the shop with a most disreputable hat.

"Look here, I thought you said this here beaver would last me a lifetime?"

"So it would," growled Jones, "if you had died when you ought to!"

He Lagged Superfluous. He Lagged Soperfluous.

A certain town in New England, like many others, had a number of men and women who were called "characters." One of these was "Buck" Barker, a man unfortunately addicted to drink, and frequently intoxicated for days at a time.

Once he went into the shop of the local hatter, Mr. Jones, and asked for the best "beaver" in the store. Mr. Jones produced the destred article, and said, as he took the money, "That beaver will last a man a lifetime."

"Buck" went proudly down the main street with his fine "beaver" on his head, and immediately cele-
